Introduction

Thank you for registering to attend our conference.  The aim of this event is to showcase developments in educational resources, and ICT-based software solutions in the domain of accessible mathematics.  We are really looking forward to meeting you on Monday 7th October.  This brief document contains our agenda for the day, and some information to help you get to the event.  If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to reach out to the conference  organiser, Dr. Donal Fitzpatrick, using either email:  donal.fitzpatrick@dcu.ie or twitter: @fitzpatrickd.

The attendees will be a mixture of experts in various disciplines, as well as people who do not know much about the topic area.  We will have people with a wide variety of interests, from those involved in producing accessible materials, to teachers, University employees, and others with a general interest in, and enthusiasm for, the topic.  I would just like to remind all participants that this event operates under an informal code of conduct, where disrespectful comments based on gender, ethnicity, disability, sexual orientation, and/or any of the other 9 grounds for discrimination under Irish law will not be tolerated.  the aim is to provide a welcoming and inclusive space where all views may be aired, and listened to, courteously and with respect and dignity.

Getting to the Event

For those taking public transport, we recommend taking the Green line Luas, and alighting at the Central Park stop.  Please note that if there is any attendee who, for accessibility reasons, would like to be met at the Luas stop, please advise us, and we will be happy to assist.  For those travelling by car, the location is just off the M50.  There is ample free parking outside the building, and all rooms are accessible.
